

When are you likely to feel like you are wasting time? How much time have you wasted during your life? We all know, we never get those moments back. I cherish countless moments I've shared with people. But, one of my favorite ministry cartoons captures someone popping into a pastor's office with the greeting, "I just had some time to kill." Needless to say, the look on the pastor's face didn't share his visitor's excitement. I'm sure you too have experienced your share of unexpected and spontaneous "opportunities." We are going to talk about time today. Time is precious. We will all spend this gift from God. Make sure you spend yours knowing and being known by God.

When you did not know God: (v.8)

"You were slaves to so-called gods" (NLT)

Now that you know God: (vs.9-10)

Why do you want to go back again and become slaves...to the weak and useless...?

I fear for you (vs.11-12)

Did I waste my time?

Personal Application and Conversations

1. When are you likely to feel like you are wasting time?
2. What are your thoughts about spending time with people who are far from God? (vs.11-12)
3. How do you relate to our God who operates both inside and outside the time of your existence?
4. What have you learned about slavery to gods that are not really gods? (v.8)
5. In what ways are you tempted to go back to the spiritually weak and worthless principles of the world? (vs. 9-10)

Time to Kill
